

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Once in a while a society editor is overcome with sympathy for her contributors.

Last evening, for instance, Mrs. Bessie Eggerth put up a gallant battle to form the club-and-odgers scribbles just what Beacon chapter was doing.

It was very evident just what the chapter was doing.

It was dancing or should have been.

But some unkind person had placed the orchestra next to the telephone and Mrs. Eggerth finished her conversation in a blast of music.

It was a good orchestra though judging from what came over the phone.

President Roosevelt who has been re-arranging everything else in the country should complete his work soon.

All things should be in order in the U. S. presently and working smoothly under the new routines.

Then the president had better sit down quietly and devote his whole time to eradicating kidnapping.

Why a wave of that particular sort of crime should be sweeping the country is beyond conjecture.

It is becoming fantastic, even the ordinary citizens are becoming afraid of the dark.

Most of us are glad that we have only an extra pair of shoes or a shirt that kidnappers would scorn.

But we begin to wonder if soon they won't kidnap us for those articles.

Maybe that idea about the death penalty for abductors is good after all.

It seemed a bit severe at first but now—

S. O. IS STILL LINKED WITH GOLD RUMORS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—UP—Persistent reports that Standard Oil of California would become a large scale gold miner circulated throughout mining circles here today.

The reports were denied formally by P. H. Patchin, assistant to the president of the oil company, in a conversation with the United Press.

Dispatches from Michigan, Illinois, Forest Hill and other communities in the Mother Lode country originated the reports. The dispatches told of the presence of mining engineers, said to be representing Standard Oil, in making surveys of Placer county properties and in taking up options on many holdings.

The California Mining Journal, in its current issue, said the Placer county mining section was greatly interested in "the news that the Standard Oil company has had foresight enough to lease a large acreage of gold-bearing gravel lands in the eastern part of the county."

S. F. Attorney Sent to State Mental Home

MARTINEZ, July 15.—Hamilton Bauer, San Francisco attorney, was today adjudged insane by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie and committed to the state hospital at Agnew.

Bauer was reported yesterday by his daughter, Miss Hamblin Bauer, who said he attempted to commit suicide by hanging himself in a Concord home.

He was staying at the home of a brother-in-law following a nervous breakdown.

Bauer was a candidate in 1914 for the Republican nomination for the lieutenant governorship.

HUNT FOR STOLEN GIRL SHIFTS

O'CONNELL KIDNAPING CONTINUES AS MYSTERY

ALBANY, N. Y., July 15.—UP—The O'Connell kidnaping case remained a mystery tonight as the handsome young captive politically-influential family continued its patient waiting for further word from the abductors.

Meanwhile, legislators told the United Press they were ready to support any movement to change the penalty for kidnaping from the present 10 to 50 years term to life imprisonment or even capital punishment.

"There is no question that some thing must be done quickly," declared Assemblyman John H. Cahill, Democrat, Albany. "I'm ready to back any legislation that will make the penalty more stringent—even capital punishment. The more drastic we make the penalty, the better off the people of this state are going to be."

Senator George R. Fearon, Republican leader of the upper house, speaking by telephone from Syracuse, said:

"If greater penalties are necessary to such kidnappings, I'm for them 100 percent."

The only development today was the revelation by sources close to the family that yesterday's kidnap note was mailed from Albany. It contained no threats. The signature of young John in the letter appeared authentic.

Facts were scarce and in the capitol's many deer parlors, pool halls and other gathering places, the "I've got the low down boys" told fancy tales about the "inside" of the kidnaping, which because of the hostess's prominent family connection has kept the city in a state of constant excitement for more than a week.

New Story
One story which gained circulation in the low strata of the city's life, was that the O'Connell brothers—Daniel P., Edward J., and John, Jr., Sr., the captives' father—had refused to "spring" four men involved in a robbery and that the kidnaping of John, Jr., was in revenge. The $250,000 ransom demand, according to the rumor mongers, is "just a blind."

Still another story, entirely without foundation in fact, is that the kidnappers planned to hold young O'Connell, who is a national guard officer, until four men now in jail are released through the influence of the O'Connell brothers, the political king pins of the capitol district.

County Publishers Form New Unit of State Association

Organization of what is to be known as the "Diablo unit" of the California Newspaper Publishers association was begun yesterday afternoon in Martinez.

The unit will take in publishers in Contra Costa county and possibly parts of San Joaquin and Solano counties.

Harry Silver of Walnut Creek was named chairman and Fred Nesom of Richmond secretary.

Those present for the western end of the county were: G. E. Miles of the Richmond Record-Herald, Charles Brombacher of the El Cerrito Journal and George Pearce of the Rodeo News Facts.

Following organization, the remainder of the afternoon was spent in discussion of the probable effects of the National Industrial Recovery act on the newspaper and job printing business.

Fire Chief O. A. Burnett of El Cerrito, his wife and two children, Wynne and Escal are on their way to Clayton, Oklahoma, for a month. They will visit Burnett's father and other relatives in Kansas, Arkansas and Missouri.

Italian Air Fleet Ends Great Flight At Chicago Harbor

CHICAGO, July 15.—UP—Italy's winged armada glided to rest today on the bobbing waves of Chicago harbor, goal of their 6,100 mile flight.

The first land-motored seaplane in the fleet of 24 was that headed General Paolo Emilio Italian air minister, his counsel, or Mussolini and one of the world's foremost aviators. The long black star on Italian's plane had blazed the way to the first mass flight across the north Atlantic.

The armada and its escort of American planes was sighted approaching the fair grounds at 14:30 p.m., C.S.T. The first ship came to rest at the end of the trail at 5 p.m., and 5:31 the 24th ship of the group settled down upon the surface to complete the flight.

Perfect Form
The ships volplaned to a landing in the same precise formation they assumed when they took off shortly after 9 a.m., today at Montreal for the 870 mile last leg of the sky journey from Lake Orbetello, in west central Italy, to a century of progress at Chicago.

The setting for the climax was superb. The planes rode in on a gentle tail wind, cool despite the bridge mid-summer sunshine. Low clouds billowed on the faint blue horizon between the blue lake and the bluer sky.

Momentous Feat
In less than 100 hours flying time, the Italian aviators achieved a momentous feat to add to the wonders of the world's air, celebrating 100 years of progress in science, the arts and the humanities.

When the squadron reached its haven, a triumph was recorded for scientific mass flight in heavier-than-air.

Fire Hits Shoe Shop

Three engines of the Richmond fire department early this morning answered a call to the shoe repair shop of Theodore Josephson, 4605 Barrett avenue.

The blaze, of unknown origin, broke out between the rear walls of the shop at about 12:40 a. m. Assistant Fire Chief Jack Barry estimated the damage at about $50.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Smith of Carlton avenue, their daughter, Claire and Miss Gail Herbert, are vacationing at Lake Tahoe.

ABDUCTORS OPERATING IN FACE OF STRONG LAW

Copyright 1933 by United Press

CHICAGO, July 15.—UP—Organized kidnapers, America's most desperate criminals, today were revealed as operating in defiance of even the most drastic abduction laws enacted since the tragedy of the Lindbergh baby.

In several states penalties have been tightened within the last year to include the death sentence.

But the kidnaping wave of the past three months has shown that gangsters, their beer and liquor revenue gone, ply their tyrannical trade in open scorn of state and federal enactments.

Three major kidnapings rocked police forces last week. Two were in Illinois, where the abductors face the electric chair of conviction. The other was in New York state where the penalty may be 50 years in prison.

Bold Actions

In one of the Illinois abductions the kidnappers compounded their unsecreted defiance of the law by releasing their victim, John (Jake) the Barker Factor, on the main street of a Chicago suburb, and giving him directions to the police station, two blocks away.

The other Illinois seizure was that of August Luer, aged Alton bank millionaire, kidnaped while state authorities, alerted by the FBI, were searching for him. A special patrol of 25 state patrolmen was ready to pursue the gangsters.

The New York kidnapers seized John J. O'Connell, Jr., delaying agent, New York's most powerful Democratic machine as they abducted the nephew of the political group's two leaders.

Guard Children

An echo of kidnapers' brazen activities reverberated in the nation's capital. Secret service guards were sent to protect the grand-children of President Roosevelt.

James Towers Sr.
Called By Death

James Towers, Sr., well known Richmond man, passed away late last evening in Leighton, California. The remains are being brought to Richmond in a Wilson and Kratzer auto hearse and funeral arrangements will be at that chapel.

Towers was the father of James Towers, Jr., hoseman on the Richmond fire department, and the husband of the late Jane Towers.

Lightness of Piccard Gondola
Will Help Scientist's Flight

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series on the proposed stratospheric flight of Dr. Jean Piccard, dealing with the physical equipment the scientist will utilize on his trip. The next will deal with the purpose of the flight.)

CHICAGO, July 15.—UP—The extreme lightness of the gondola in which Dr. Jean Piccard and Lieutenant T. G. W. Seattle will make a third stratospheric flight in the interests of science, will allow their balloon to ascend to a height of 11 miles, the scientist believes.

Should the light, spherical gondola, attached to a Goodyear balloon, attain that altitude, it would exceed by one mile the height reached by the chemist's twin brother, Professor Auguste Piccard, who already has made two ascensions in attempts to wrest from the skies the secret of the cosmic ray—a secret still held from earth-bound scientists.

New Lighter

The aluminum gondola used in previous flights weighed approximately 300 pounds. The new sphere, in which the chemist and his naval aide plan to take off from the Century of Progress Exposition here this month, weighs but 200 pounds, and Dr. Piccard counts upon this saving to give him the greater altitude.

His gondola, made of Duralumin, a metal lighter than aluminum, was constructed under his direction.

Iron Steel Industry Aids President With Progressive Program

WASHINGTON, July 15.—UP—A tremendous boost to President Roosevelt's recovery program came today from the great iron and steel industry, whose leading figures have modeled the backbone of America's industry and business structure.

The industry, in President's 15 new recovery bills, came forward with a recovery act of its own, striking directly at many controversial issues, some anticipated during the years of depression.

Point Code

The proposed code, for which a hearing date will be set next week, provided:

1. A 40-hour week based on average half year periods.

2. Minimum wages of from 75 to 100 cents per hour for common labor.

3. A 15 per cent wage increase for other grades of work.

4. Elimination of child labor.

5. Recognition of labor's rights to organize, with provisions for formation of company union representation.

6. Elimination of the "Pittsburgh plus" price system with a method of basic price fixing established.

7. Details of unfair practices and penalties for violation of the code.

8. Discount privileges.

Submission of the code for steel, the industry which gave America its Carnegie, Schwab, Fricks and other financial dynasties, provided a soaring impetus to the recovery movement.

It added another to the basic industries upon which business soon will be built: bituminous coal, oil, lumber and divisions of the agricultural trades which already are in with codes.

Another Plan

Another recovery plan, that of Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, to have all of industry come under a blanket code for higher wages and shorter work-hours, is to be discussed by Johnston with Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow.

It was learned that John on both sides are coming in rapidly enough for industrial workers, but that something needs to be done to give a greater purchasing power to the "white collar" or office workers.

He and Secretary of Interior Ickes will discuss this plan, looking to a uniform 35-hour week for industry, and a 40-hour week for office workers, with minimum wages of $14 and $15 respectively.

DRUNK DRIVER PENALIZED

SAN JOSE, July 15.—Hans Peterson today had paid a $200 fine and was placed on two years probation on his plea of guilty to a drunken driving charge. Superior Judge William F. Jones referred the matter of revoking Peterson's operator's license to the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Emergency Group
Studies Plan to Spend $3,000,000

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—UP—The state emergency relief committee met here today to discuss plans for spending $3,000,000 during the first quarter of the present fiscal year. Funds for the purpose will be made available through the $20,000,000 bond issue voted in the June 27 special election.

R. C. Branton, state relief administrator, proposed to sell $3,000,000 worth of the bonds immediately.

A letter from Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, stated that he recognized the state emergency relief committee as the official group to handle all funds advanced by the federal government for relief work.

The committee also will handle state funds for unemployment aid.

Richmond Woman
Victim of Thief

Miss Caroline Davidson of the West Side reports the loss of a tire and rim from her car, parked in Oakland.

She said that she left the car at 1341 Jefferson street and during her absence someone jacked it up and removed the equipment.

CAR TRACED BY OFFICERS TO PAIR IN BURLINGAME

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—UP—Police search took a new turn in the hunt for Helen Lyons, 13, missing Sacramento girl, and her alleged abductor when late today activities of two Burlingame men were investigated.

Trace Auto

Automobile license numbers provided by the girl's father, William Lyons, steel contractor, were traced to a machine in Burlingame reportedly in the possession of the two suspected men.

The new turn in the case followed a state-wide search for Edward Doyle, Stockton, recently identified by the state bureau of criminal identification as the man who carried the girl off.

His own machine after stopping to aid the contractor whose automobile had broken down near Salinas a week ago.

Developments tended to eliminate Doyle, police said.

A second-hand automobile yesterday became the most important weapon of the law in the state-wide hunt for Helen Lyons, attractive 13 year old Sacramento girl who disappeared from Merced a week ago and who the State Bureau of Criminal Identification believes was murdered by her kidnaper.

The car, in which the girl is supposed to have driven to lunch with a chance acquaintance while her father was supervising repairs on his own car, was at first traced to a man named Edith Doyle.

Through a license number noted by the girl's father, William Lyons, Sacramento steel contractor, the car yesterday was traced to William Jacobs, 1144 Fourth avenue, Oakland.

Jacobs explained he had sold the car three months ago to F. P. Shain, now in Los Angeles. Shain, in turn, said he turned the car over to Harry Heffner, 19, vacuum cleaner salesman who went to Salinas June 7.

The kidnaper, police believe, after murdering the child, hid her body in one of the lonely wooded canyons along the Salinas-Merced highway.

Reports that the missing girl had been seen in the East Bay collapsed yesterday upon investigation.

Wharf Car
Kills Man

An unidentified man, believed to be a member of the crew of the Standard Oil company tanker "Story," was instantly killed early this morning on the long wharf of the oil company.

The man, evidently walking from town back to his ship, was struck by and knocked under the oil company's electric train which operates on the wharf.

According to Coroner Aubrey Wilson, the oil company worker apparently was walking on the wrong side of the wharf where clearance from the trolley cars is but a few inches.

The upper part of the man's body was badly mangled by the wheels of the car.

Due to the late hour no communication could be made with the "Story," thereby precluding any chance for identification of the dead man until later today.

Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Sears and son, Roland, have returned from a visit to Posey, Tulare county. Dr. Sears enjoyed a visit with his father, W. L. Sears, during the outing.

FAST FIELD OF SPEEDERS AT SAN JOSE

SAN JOSE, July 15.—With Al Gordon, who holds the Acot Speedway Los Angeles track record and Mel Kennedy, 1928 Pacific Coast racing champion, in their Miller Motor Specials, heading the list, a fast field of speedsters awaits the starter's flag tomorrow afternoon at the San Jose speedway.

The program is announced by Linn Mathewson, manager of the track, includes time trials, three five lap dashes, a 10 lap main event and a 15 hole consolation race. In addition there are three motorcycle races for motorcycle stars and a set of special brushes between Gordon and Kennedy. Time trials begin at noon, the first race at 2:00 p. m.

The cycle stars who are billed to do battle include Les Tresbach vs. Ed Spadatore and Al Chastoon vs. Howard "Duck" Whitner. The winners of these two sprints will meet in a final dash.

Gordon and Kennedy who have been working out on the speedway here for the past few days tonight pronounced it in faster condition than it has ever been. Gordon was particularly enthusiastic about it predicting he would smash the present lap record held by Ernie Triplett, 1931 Pacific Coast racing champion. Kennedy had a slightly different slant on the matter, however as he is of the opinion that it will be he and not Gordon who will turn the trick of depriving Ernie of his laurels.

"This boy Gordon appears to be the coming star of the California speedways," declared Mathewson today. "Or late he has been showing Triplett the way home in Southern California dashes and if Ernie does not look out Al will knock him off the championship perch."

The other automobile events scheduled promise to equal the Kennedy-Gordon clashes so far as thrills are concerned. At the last meet here "Swede" Smith of Portland topped first honors in the 40 lap main event and did such a workmanlike job that it almost equaled the record for that distance. Consequently he is a favorite to repeat tomorrow.

The semi-finals may be completed today and the finals are scheduled for Sunday, July 23. They will include men's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles.

THEY call him "Deadpan" Joe DeMaggio, but on this occasion he had plenty reason for flashing one of his rare smiles. Joe, a stripling of 18, playing his first season in professional baseball, broke an 18 year Pacific Coast League record when he hit safely in his 50th consecutive game. The record was set 18 years ago by Jack Ness of the Oaks.

OAKLAND AND CONCORD WIN

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—San Francisco bay district youngsters are the undisputed champions in three classes of the Catholic baseball leagues of California.

Some 6700 boys tried for the honor. Yesterday three heat nines from up north, resplendent in uniforms, swatted the ball at Wrigley Field to demonstrate their superiority over as many teams from the Los Angeles-San Diego diocese.

St. Patrick's Midlets of Oakland, beat St. Agatha's Los Angeles, 13 to 4; St. Peter's of San Francisco won from Ventura, 17 to 1 for the junior flag, and Concord trounced Riverside 16 to 1, for the senior championship.

Not to be outdone in this business of spectacular baseball by the major leaguers, Charles Borah, catcher, sent the ball on a trip into the bleachers in the senior game with one on base to give Concord a lead which from there on increased like a rolling snowball.

New Version of French National Anthem Is Found

PARIS, July 15.—UP—A new and previously unpublished verse of La Marseillaise, French national anthem, is included in a yellowed copy of the song which came into the hands of Thomas Sexton, young American painter widely known on the Pacific coast.

Sexton, a native of Goldfield, Nev., was given the old script by Georges Andre Klein, French artist who found it in an antiquated trunk purchased from a Marseilles peasant.

Given a free translation into English, the hitherto unknown verse reads:

"And, brothers, this great triumph (the revolution) of yours will be literally graven on the soil of the motherland, for every letter of the charter will be graven on a stone; and if, troubling these epic festivities, Europe should saddle us with another king, the people would tear up the very tablets of the law and brain him!"

Academicians said the handwriting was not that of Roget de Lisle, reputed author of the French anthem.

Sexton studied in Los Angeles and San Francisco in the period between 1925 and 1928.

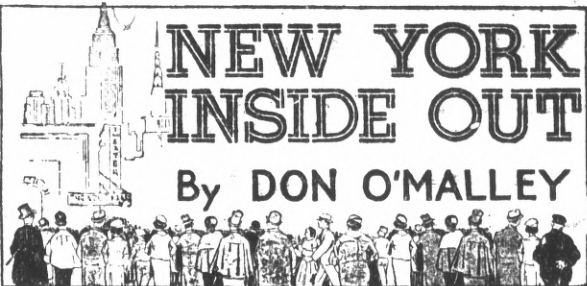

The galleries of Carl Anderson, Hollywood, and Chalfont Head, architect, contain some of the works of the young American painter, who a year ago married Gwain Noot, a Hollywood girl.

George O'Brien Marries Actress

SANTA BARBARA, July 15.—UP—George O'Brien, screen actor, and Marguerite Churchill, actress, were married today in the Santa Ynez mission, 35 miles north of here.

The ceremony was performed by Father Harry Stark of the Paulist church of Westwood, a Los Angeles suburb.

Daniel J. O'Brien, former San Francisco police chief, accompanied the groom. Miss Churchill was given away by her mother. The couple left by motor for a honeymoon trip to British Columbia.

NEW YORK, July 15.—President Roosevelt didn't realize what he was starting when he advertised a "New Deal" in a New York paper.

The playwright of the play, "New York Inside Out," which is being staged at the New York City Theatre, said today that the play is a "New Deal" in its own right.

And in the Second Avenue play, the proprietor lures in the kid from the neighborhood on the promise of a New Deal in lollipops.

Not At A Standstill

After many years of running, the play, "New York Inside Out," has reached its peak of activity on a Saturday afternoon.

Any of the Roaring Forties on a Saturday noon.

Fifth Avenue's shopping district on a Saturday afternoon.

Thirty-fourth Street and Broadway, recognized as the world's noisiest corner, reaches its peak of activity on a Saturday afternoon.

And we still hold to the belief that the busiest corner in the world for motor and pedestrian traffic is 42nd Street and Broadway, although statisticians claim it isn't as active as Wilshire Boulevard and Western Avenue, Los Angeles.

IF THE stories of the boys with the cats fascinate you, read "New York Untouchables," the story of the racketeer dynasty. It's plenty gory and some of the tales concerning the hard-bitten mugs are immense. How they fought their way up from petty crooks to gangland nobility are impressive. Kidnapers Get Wrong Chap in Aged Salesman

EUREKA, July 15.—UP—Four men who allegedly kidnaped E. T. Wiggins, 66, Stockton salesman, released their prisoner when they learned he was the "wrong man." Wiggins told the sheriff's office here today.

The salesman staggered into the office with a story that on Thursday night at Berkeley two men took him prisoner and after bandaging him held him for two days, presumably in Berkeley.

Last night they gave him a sleeping potion and dumped him from his own automobile near Eureka, Wiggins claimed.

The alleged kidnapers believed their captive was W. Q. Wright, San Francisco, head of the realty firm which employed Wiggins, he said.

In San Francisco Wright told of receiving a note addressed to his firm demanding $50,000 for "Mr. Wright's release" and containing a page bearing his name torn from a notebook which Wiggins had been carrying.

After reporting the kidnapping, Wiggins went to his home at Quimby Island, near Stockton, while police started search for the four men, two of whom Wiggins described.

New Record Set For 1-Mile Run

PRINCETON, N. J., July 15.—UP—A new outdoor world record for the mile run was set today by Jack Lovelock, Oxford medical student, in the combined Oxford-Cambridge-Princeton Cornell track meet.

Lovelock lowered the old time of 4:09.6 held by Jules Ladougue of France to 4:07.6. He defeated Princeton's Bill Thompson by seven yards.

S. O. IS STILL LINKED WITH GOLD RUMORS

"The rumor that S. O. of Cal. was looking for gold gained circulation when it was reported that engineers were examining and taking options on numerous properties in the vicinity of Michigan Bluff and Forest Hill."

The scouts refused to affirm or deny the rumor according to the Mining News account.

The San Francisco Chronicle, relating its own efforts to check the story, said that for many days past word has been handed about that certain executives of the Standard Oil company have formed themselves into a syndicate to purchase outstanding properties in the state to be operated for the benefit of the group.

Patchin, speaking for the company, said that Standard Oil had no plans whatever to extend the scope of its business to involve production of gold.

"If any officials of the company are to engage in gold mining, they will do so as individuals," he told the United Press.

List of stocks ranged to 6 points, while for the volatile issues the advance was as much as 15 1/4.

Second Anniversary of the Richmond Ford Plant

Two years of achievement will be commemorated when the second anniversary of the opening of the Ford Motor Company's assembling plant is celebrated August 1 to August 5 inclusive.

The event will take the form of open house to the public and a series of special luncheons and other fitting events that will center attention upon this great industry, one of the most important in Richmond.

Present importance of the company's local operations is seen in employment of 1800 men and the total daily payroll of approximately $9,000. This money is largely being spent in Richmond, inasmuch as a high percentage of the employees now live in this city. Richmond is profiting hugely from the manner in which the Ford assembling plant is being handled. Plants at Long Beach and Seattle are not operating. Workmen in Richmond are making cars for at least four western states.

Two years ago the Chamber of Commerce took a leading part in arranging and executing the celebration which formally opened the great plant. The same policy is being handled in this second anniversary celebration. Arrangements are now being made for a special event that will symbolize Chamber of Commerce cooperation and extend the hand of fellowship from the local business community to the Ford Company.

Service clubs are to hold luncheons at the plant during open house week, and these meetings will be attended by members from the entire bay region. Mayor Walter Johnson will be host to mayors from Alameda and Contra Costa county communities at a luncheon meeting at the Berkeley Country Club.

The plant is to operate from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 6 to 10 o'clock in the evening, to provide opportunity for the public to view the actual assembling operations.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitution. 25c at all stores. © 1933 C. M. Co.

Frolic

Despite the fact that the country has been turned and the country is on its way back to prosperity, the Star chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, received lightly those days of darkness and despair with a "depression party" last night.

There was no depression among the chapter members, however, for all present enjoyed a jolly and carefree evening dancing to the strains of Babe's Royal Californians.

Everyone attending had been requested to dress in cotton and the result was colorful and attractive as well as economical. Light refreshments were served.

Mrs. Bessie Fitzgerald, worthy matron, and Hans Furseth, worthy patron, who conducted a short business meeting were also in charge of arrangements for the event.

"Life" will be subject of the Lesson-Sermon today in all Churches of Christ, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent." Other Bible citations will include: "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son" (1 John 5: 11).

The Lesson-Sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "He who has the true idea of good loses all sense of evil, and by reason of this is being ushered into the undying realities of Spirit. Such a one at death in Life, if obtained not of the body incapable of supporting life, but of Truth unfolding its own immortal idea, Jesus gave the true idea of being, which results in infinite blessing to mortals" (p. 324).

Your Good Health

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Don't Wait Until You Are Sick to Choose a Doctor

How shall I choose a physician? This question has been asked many times usually by people who are moving to a strange city. It is a hard question to answer, because there is not much difference in physicians. Years ago there were several distinct schools of medicine, the members of which agreed very decidedly on what were the proper methods of treating disease.

Dr. Chrisman. That went on for many years, but gradually each met the other, each found some good in the other's methods and gradually they have all gotten together and have taken the best of each method and used it to the best advantage and now it is almost impossible to distinguish an adherent of one school from one of another.

WE ALL work together in our hospitals and our clinics, each doing what his mature experience has taught him is the best method for the good of the patient. Every few years since a new method pops up and is lauded as a cure-all. Each has some merit and the physician tries to find out the best in it for his own use. In these days, when it has been proven and accepted by the best minds that most diseases are the result of bacterial invasion, it is impossible to convince the patient that all disease is caused by some misplaced nerve or bone, but a maladjustment of a bone or joint. It is true that pressure on certain nerves and tissues will cause us discomfort and disability and the well informed physician considers all of this in his examination of the patient and gives it due consideration and treatment.

AT THIS time, all physicians are well educated and trained. Every man who is licensed to practice medicine is compelled to have a good general education. He must study all branches of medicine. He cannot say, "I will do surgery and will not study anything else." He must study and perfect himself in all branches of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, eye, ear, nose, and throat, bacteriology, pathology, and so forth. Then he is allowed to take special training in his chosen branch. In consequence of the above facts your problem of choosing a physician resolves itself largely into a consideration of his character, personality and mental attitude.

THE chief thing is, that each and every one should have a family physician. It makes no difference if you are well and never have any use for a doctor. Sick comes suddenly, often, and at the most inconvenient times. You are never ready for it, and when it comes, you are in no condition to use good judgment in choosing a physician to care for you. At such a time you are very likely to send for the nearest doctor or one of your friends have heard of or has met at some social function. He comes to see you, you are in discomfort, you are not your natural self, your mind is centered on your ailment and the exclusion of every other consideration and you want relief. He knows nothing of your natural self, does not know your condition when well and he is hampered in many ways.

WHEN you are well you should choose your physician. Talk with him, let him get acquainted with the fellow who is you, have him examine you in health. He may find something that your attention has not been drawn to and a little advice at that time may save you from serious trouble. At any rate, he knows you, you are friends, and when he is called to your sick bed he comes as a friend and as one who knows you and you are not just another case.

MAKE-UP HINTS FOR THOSE WHO DISLIKE SUNTAN

By JACQUELINE HUNT

SUMMER make-up problems cannot be covered in one brief article on making-up the suntanned skin. There are some of you who do not want tanned skins for instance. One large group of you wish to keep your coloring pale and delicate through the vigorous barrage of the sun's rays, and there is another group of you who would like all of the appearance of a good tanning without actually having your skin change color at all.

Let's see what I can do for you. The first group usually includes girls with complexions as fair and delicate as hothouse blossoms, girls with fragile lines on whom a bronzed skin is incongruous or older girls whose skins are not so alert as they once were. Rub your entire body with oil first, then you must use a tinted foundation cream or a specially pigmented cream that matches the natural color of your skin. Apply some of your rouge that harmonizes with your natural coloring and use a sun-proof powder that is just a little darker than that you ordinarily use.

The oil, foundation cream and sun-proof powder are excellent protection against tanning, but you had also better trust a mild tan should have the same protective treatment as your face—and remember, too, that if you start this procedure you will have to keep it up. One or two treatments do not protect you for the summer.

Those who want a suntanned skin without actually tanning usually include a large group of girls to whom a brown skin is becoming—while it lasts. The ideal skin is one that browns quickly and painlessly and fades away in a few days when it is not regularly exposed. But many skins do not react so nicely. They tan slowly and sometimes painfully and then turn to an ugly lemon-yellow in the fall and the last remnants of the summer fade away slowly. Smear about this girls with such skins want an artificial tan!

Let me warn you, however, not to try to give your skin too dark an artificial tone. It can't be done successfully. Select one that gives it a light or medium suntan make-up that is attractive and natural looking. First apply a protective cream or lotion in a light or deep bronze over your face, neck and chest—legs and arms too if they are exposed—being careful not to get the area just under the eyes.

Now take a soft, creamy rouge or a rich tone than you ordinarily use and blend a little of it under each eye and over your cheekbones just as Nature does to a sun-kissed skin—next, a light pink. Select one that harmonizes with your rouge and gives its clear, gay tone. Use a suntan shade of powder of the proper depth for your "girlish" complexion. To keep the dark powder from accumulating in creases, use a very light hint of your regular powder before applying the dark.

Your eyes need make-up just as do the eyes of the naturally bronzed beauty. Apply a brown eye shadow first—just a small amount of it and then blend in a small amount of blue or green or violet. Darken your eyes with necessary and darken and cream your eyebrows to give good detail to your features.

Finally be sure that the suntan make-up is skillfully blended around your hair-line to give the final touch of perfection and convince your friends that you are an outdoors lady even if you are not.

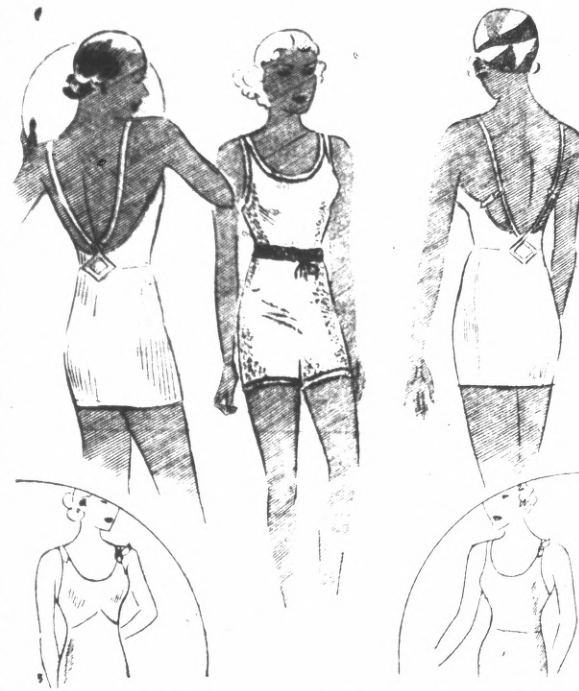

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "When a group of men and women attend the theater, what is the correct way for them to take their seats? The women first?—O. W. R."

ANSWER: The man leads the way down the theater aisle and steps aside for the woman to enter first, when a couple attend the theater alone. When they are in the company of other persons, however, it is not necessary for the men to step aside for the ladies to take their seats. It is simpler, and hence better form, for a crowd to take correct positions before starting for their seats. If the party consists of couples they will take their places quite naturally, as a rule, a woman, a man, a woman, a man, etc.

Tasty Dishes for Today

THRIFT MENUS FOR JULY DAYS

By JUDITH WILSON

SUMMER is such a bountiful season! You can dress for less—serve pretty, well-balanced meals for less, and give parties for practically nothing except a little planning and a few minutes of extra work. Not regular parties, of course—summer is no time for formality—but you do want to have a few friends drop in for a bit of cooling refreshment after a round of golf, a tennis game or a swim and entertain out-of-town friends occasionally.

Refreshments in the Open. You will probably want to serve the refreshments in the garden, on a shady side porch or on the lawn. Manufacturers understanding this desire for spontaneous hospitality and informality have gotten busy and made all sorts of pretty and practical serving tables, dishes and accessories to simplify the serving of this type of meal. You can get charming wooden bowls for salads, pottery jugs for the oil and vinegar, colored china and bright stoneware for the refreshments that are inexpensive and gay—all to add to the fun of entertaining.

And we food columnists have been experimenting and trying out recipes to find those suitable for informal afternoon entertainment—something smart and unusual but still not too much work. There are several such dishes in the menus above.

Tomato Jelly Cubes. Make this salad in the first menu when you suspect someone might drop in during the day. Soak one tablespoon of gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water for five minutes and then dissolve it in boiling water and add one and one-fourth cups tomato juice, two tablespoons of mild vinegar, two tablespoons lemon juice and one-half teaspoon salt. Boil in a hot sauce pan in cold water and fill with the above mixture to the depth of about an inch. Chill. To serve, cut the tomato jelly into cubes and arrange on crisp lettuce hearts with shredded shrimps either the fresh or canned. Serve with a well seasoned mayonnaise.

Buttered Corn Sticks. The cornsticks can be stirred up and baked after your guests arrive or you can bake them before and warm them for a few minutes before serving. Scald one and one-fourth cup molasses and two well beaten eggs. Sift together three-fourths cup flour, four teaspoons baking powder, and one teaspoon of salt then add to the first mixture. Add two tablespoons of melted shortening and pour into greased bread rings. Bake in a hot oven twenty minutes. Butter and serve warm. This recipe makes two dozen small sticks.

Fresh Cherry Shortcake. The shortcake is made by a new "quick" method. Prepare four cherries first. Wash them, remove the stems and pits. Add enough sugar to sweeten, mix and heat just until the mixture boils, remove from the fire and let cool. If not sweet enough add a little more sugar. It will melt quickly in the hot juice. Set aside until you are ready to serve the shortcake.

MENUS
Afternoon Refreshments
Tomato Jelly Cubes with Cherry
Buttered Corn Sticks
Fresh Cherry Shortcake
Grapejuice Flip
Salad of Mixed Greens
Roiled Egg and Sardine Sandwiches
Crackers and Cheese
Pineapple Sherbet in Gingerale
Icebox Nut Cookies
iced Coffee

For the cake you should have better than is offered at room temperature and all of the necessary ingredients on hand. Sift your flour once, measure one and one-half cups and mix again with two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt and two-thirds cup sugar. Combine one egg, well beaten with one-half cup milk and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Add four tablespoons of the sifted flour and the liquid mixture to the flour and stir until all of the flour is dampened. Then beat vigorously for one minute. Bake in two greased 8x8x2 pans in a moderate oven for twenty to twenty-five minutes.

To serve spread softened butter between the layers and cover the layers and top with the prepared cherries. Serve warm or cold with sweetened whipped cream.

The most unusual feature of the second menu is the pineapple sherbet floated in pretty glasses of chilly, bubbly pineapple. A combination and trick that you will be tempted to call on the next time your club meets.

TEACH A CHILD TABLE MANNERS

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

EVERYONE admires nice table manners in a child. But how a child holds his fork is not so important as how he employs it. The parent who persistently nags a child, hoping thereby to correct his manners, succeeds only in driving the child away from the food. A child learns gradually. He is not ready to learn how to hold a fork, if he has not how to eat with good appetite, as he cannot appreciate the use of a fork.

Aids to Appetite. Apropos of this subject, I quote from the letter of a mother. "My daughter is six years old," she writes, "and a source of worry to me, as she dawdles over her food, spills it on the tablecloth, on the floor and over herself. Thinking that she might be ill, I took her to the doctor one. But he said that there is nothing wrong with her physically. That she has bad mealtime habits; that's all. How can I teach my child good manners?"

If there is a child in your family who answers this description, do not judge him too hastily. He may be naturally slow. Like the little girl referred to in the letter, he may need an incentive to get down to business when the meal is set before him. There are various ways of making food interesting to children. Serve it attractively at a small table covered with a colorful little cloth and bright dishes. Provide him with a napkin. Make it a ceremonious affair. Tell him, "We are going to play a game today," and bring out a chart and hang it on the wall. If he eats his dinner in twenty minutes, he will get a gold star, and if he doesn't spill anything, he will get an extra star, a silver one.

Essentials First. Don't expect the child to eat everything on his dish the first time, or not to spill anything. Be satisfied if he shows some improvement no matter how slight and don't forget to tell him how nicely he has done. Tell him that at dinner time you will play the game again, and don't be surprised if he keeps asking all the afternoon when it will be dinner-time.

The most effective way to teach orderliness is by example. When daddy has finished dinner, take the child to his place sometime and point out how clean he leaves his plate, the tablecloth and the floor. Then send him to play and forget the incident, trusting that he will remember it.

Chiffon Handkerchiefs. New chiffon handkerchiefs are larger than ever. Plain and checks are the newest but simple large squares of bright colors are smart, too, with white or pastel dresses.

German Women Denied Careers . . . Some Who Succeeded

ADOLPH HITLER, Germany's Nazi Chancellor, seems bent on upholding the old German adage that women were created for "Church, Children and Kitchen."

The same new law which definitely bars all persons of the Jewish faith from holding any kind of office in Germany, also undertakes to keep women out of office. It provides that "in the interest of the formation of families," only women 35-years old or older can be appointed as officials. Women officials who have a husband with an income assuring economic security will be dismissed. Many women teachers are among those affected, and it is reported that a large number have fled suits for divorce in order to retain their positions.

Washing clothes and washing babies, it would seem, are the only industries to be left for German women. Under the old-fashioned system of domestic subjection the average middle-class German woman appeared to live only in hope of winning a glance of approval or toleration from her lord and master. Her exercise consisted chiefly in walking from the kitchen stove to the kitchen table and back again, with occasional but regular spells at the washtub. One needn't take a beauty specialist's word, but this routine combined with a liberal consumption of pastry, would have wrecked the figure of a Venus de Milo.

However, all this was changed after the 1918 revolution. The establishment of the Republic completely transformed German women in body and mental attitude. Many went in for athletics and acquired strong, graceful figures. They welcomed the severe diet of the training table which replaced the old orgies of coffee and cakes. The vote and the right to sit in the Reichstag were given them and several became dominant figures in legislative halls. Universities were opened to them and many distinguished themselves in medicine, the sciences and law. Just American, English and women of other lands had done.

And now, because of Her Hitler, all this is to be changed. Thousands of bright young women students are being denied the right to an education and must forego careers to busy themselves with cook stoves and babies.

THERE recently died in Russia a German woman named Clara Zetkin. This venerable Communist was 82-years old. During the years of the German Republic she had played a leading role in the Reichstag, and for a brief time acted as its president. When Hitler assumed office some months ago and the new Reichstag assembled, Clara Zetkin was not present.

Another picturesque woman of the Reichstag was Ruth Fischer, otherwise Frau Golke. The Nazis voted to deport her because she was an Austrian, although Chancellor Hitler himself is of similar origin. She promptly married a German workman and thus became a German citizen and could not be deported. She separated from her husband at once because the home was not her chosen domain. She fled to Denmark, where women enjoy the fullest freedom, and from where she can easily keep in touch with affairs in Germany.

Other women politicians were not so fortunate. One, a Socialist member of the Reichstag, committed suicide before she faced the end of her public career. She was a school teacher and participated in the framing of the Weimar republican constitution.

Since the close of the World War German women have achieved honors in science which is comparable to the work of Madame Curie, the co-discoverer of radium, in France. Dr. Rhoda Erdmann of Berlin, is one of the foremost cancer specialists in Germany. She has been invited to lecture at the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University and invited to carry on her researches at the Rockefeller Institute in New York City.

Even if these particular women are not removed through some special amendment to the new German laws, it would seem a pity that those youthful German women who wish careers in arts or sciences should be deprived of that right.

Now with that other famous German slogan, "Den Kuche uber alles," we have "Die Kuche uber alles"—"the kitchen above all." Home may be a sweet place and poets and writers have sung praises for years, but to German women, it is not as sweet as all that. Liberty is sweeter sometimes than a bright and shining kitchen and having tasted liberty and freedom of thought and action, it is debatable whether German womanhood will meekly submit to Hitler's edict that they go back to their housework.

WOMEN WASTE TIME SEEKING SOCIAL HONORS

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

WOMEN have a penchant for hurrying themselves into unworthy causes. They are inclined to spend time and money and endless effort in the pursuit of something which is not worth any of these priceless things. Playing the social game is one of their pet projects, and to what end? Not that social position and social prestige is not important in its way, but it is the sort of thing that one has, or one has not, and if one unfortunately belongs in the latter class it seems worse than foolish to spend any time trying to crash the gates. There are of course always gates that one can crash, and that perhaps justify the method, but they are rarely, if ever, the gates one really wants to enter.

LAUNCHING a debutante daughter on the perilous social seas has made many a mother gray-headed before her time, and sent many a father to an early grave. It is serious business at best, and when one is an outsider looking in, and must therefore watch every move, it gets rather irksome. In the social game, it is not so bad, but an unappreciative girl, who may perhaps be an ugly duckling to boot makes hard going for mama.

IN MOST cities, the Junior League is the mecca of the debutante, but your Miss Manhattan does not have quite the same attitude about it. It requires a good deal more than the desire to be a member and even a tireless social worker, You have got to make the grade, and it requires the assistance of quite an array of outsiders to sponsor you.

UNDER the guise of sweet charity many a woman has attempted the impossible socially. Usually to the astonishment of the woman who is willing to pay high for the privilege of rubbing elbows with the right people, she finds that is as far as she ever goes.

THE charity which she had used as a cloak, is the only one that benefits in the end, which is justice. If you ask me, Modern girls feel very different about publicity than did their mothers and grandmothers. It is an open secret that press agents are not unknown in the outer rim of society, women whose business it is to see that photographs are published in the right magazines and society sections of newspapers and that private conversations of their comings and goings may appear.

NATURALLY those who are in the inner circle have nothing but scorn for such enterprise, still it does exist and has been known to put a girl over. There are even social agencies who attempt to all the details of a party, even to supplying guests, for while the conservatives faint at the idea, it honestly does happen that many a guest and hostess are unknown to each other. All of which brings us back to where we started, and serves to illustrate the point that the same amount of time and money and effort spent along these seemingly futile lines, might really launch an intelligent girl into a position out of which she could rise to fame and fortune, and ultimately save the world clamoring for admission to her doors, instead of bringing her to a supplicant to theirs.

EVERY young girl passes through the phase when she feels it necessary to have a debut and to have her chance socially. Even though she may not care much about it afterward, she naturally feels that she should "belong." As so she should, if it is the natural sequence in her life's events, but how absurd it all is when one has to carry favor and swallow camels and things in order to get "in society" when speaking generally is so bare.

THERE are women with keen social instincts, and who would consider nothing too much trouble in order to find themselves successfully launched, but excepting to a very limited circle it seems like misdirected energies that might lead to better more profitable and even more entertaining things.
